UNITED NATIONS REPULSE JAPANESE FLEET IN CORAL SEA; FORCE ENEMY TO RETIRE; UNITED FORCES WILL CONTINUE ATTACK, GIVING JAPANESE NO CHANCE TO REGAIN STRENGTH

Gigantic Sea Battle "Temporarily Ceased," States MacArthur, When Japanese Were Repulsed—Will Give No Quarter By Which "Japs" Can Recuperate From Devastating Defeat—Most Complete Defeat Administered To Axis By United Nations Thus Far.

(By Lee Van Atta, I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, May 9—The United Nations today scored a tremendous victory over the Japanese in the Coral Sea, forcing the damaged Japanese fleet, with at least 11 of its ships sunk and six others severely battered to retire to their bases north of Australia.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced from his headquarters here that the gigantic sea battle had "temporarily ceased" when the enemy fleet was repulsed by United Nations naval and air forces, chiefly American, and limped away from the scene of the engagement.

But the General promised that the United Nations forces would continue their attack, giving the enemy no quarter by which to regain strength and recuperate from the devastating defeat.

"The great naval and air battle off the northeast coast of Australia has temporarily ceased," MacArthur said.

"The enemy has been repulsed. Our attack will continue." The blasting of the Japanese fleet was the most complete defeat administered to the Axis by the United Nations so far in the course of the war. The naval engagement was described in some quarters as greater than the famed World War battle of Jutland.

The Japanese were forced to retire from the fray in a disorganized state from which they may never be able to recover.

Sent to the bottom by United Nations ships and airplanes were one Jap aircraft carrier, a heavy cruiser, a light cruiser, two destroyers, four gunboats, one supply ship and one transport.

Severely damaged were another aircraft carrier, a heavy cruiser, one light cruiser, one seaplane tender, a transport and a cargo ship.

The damaged carrier was so severely wrecked that it was believed to be a total loss.

(Reuter's (British) news agency reported that the Japanese had lost two aircraft carriers, indicating that the one which had been seriously damaged finally had sunk.)

Commenting in his communique on the advance of the beaten Japanese fleet southward through waters above Australia before they were engaged, Gen. MacArthur said:

"This action represents continued efforts of the Japanese to extend their aggressive conquests towards the south and southeast. The first efforts were aimed at expanding his air bases, but our air force consistently and effectively attacked his fields during the past six weeks, dislocating his plans through destruction of installations and aircraft.

"Our reconnaissance revealed a great building up of naval and transport elements for a co-ordinated attack of combined forces which was initiated several days ago.

"Our naval forces then attacked in an interception.

"They were handled with marked skill, with admirable courage and tenacity and the enemy has been repulsed.

"Our attacks will continue."

Gen. MacArthur's communique was interpreted in authoritative quarters as indicating the gravity with which the supreme command in Australia regarded the Japanese concentrations in island territories to the north. For several weeks, it was said, it had become obvious that the Japanese planned a lightning smash towards the Australian continent.

Boy's Leg Fractured As School Bus Strikes Bridge

YARDLEY, May 9—Arpad Lang, 13 son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lang, sustained a severe laceration and fracture of his right leg when the school bus in which he was riding skidded into a bridge on East Edgewood road, Thursday afternoon.

George Briegel, driver of the Lower Makefield school bus, and the other 35 children escaped injury. The skidding bus broke the guard rail of the concrete bridge, and the rail punctured the door, and ripped the flesh from Lang's leg.

Arthur Woodward, who resides in a farmhouse near, phoned to a physician, who was at the scene in five minutes. Woodward also summoned E. J. Sowers, principal of the school; and Miss Margaret Wallace, school nurse. Miss Wallace and Eugene Stapler, took Lang to the office of a physician for first aid treatment; and later Stapler removed him to Mercer Hospital, Trenton, N. J.

Mr. Sowers remained at the scene, taking the children under 16 to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Stapler, while about 15 who were over 16 years of age, were retained as witnesses by Pa. Motor Police.

The children were later taken to their homes in the other school buses.

Ball Player's Car Catches Fire; Damage is Slight

A model A Ford, driven by Joe Bonnds, Cornwells Heights, caught fire on Buckley street near Race last night. Consolidated firemen extinguished the blaze.

Bonnds was returning from the Diamond-Badenhausen ball game with a group of youngsters in the car and did not know his car was on fire until he was forced to the curb by another ball player, Eddie Jefferies. After forcing Bonnds to the curb, Jefferies went to Bath and Buckley to turn in the alarm.

HORSE BITES MAN

BOSTON.—(INS)—Being kind to animals has its drawbacks, as James H. McMillan of East Boston will testify. McMillan was feeding a horse a nice, red apple, when the animal bit more than he could chew—including one of the Bostonian's fingers.

MORE RAIN NEEDED TO COMPLETE PLOWING

Light Precipitation Has Been Some Help to Grain and Grass

PEACH BUDS DAMAGED

According to County Agent, William F. Greenawald, Doylestown, the rain which we had the past day or two is totally insufficient. Much more will be needed in order that the farmers in this section of Bucks County may proceed with their plowing for corn.

In numerous parts of the county, he said, farmers have been compelled to put off plowing for corn because it has been too dry.

The situation, it was said, has not become alarming in view of the fact that the rainfall during April was far below average. Even though the rainfall so far has been rather light, it will be of great benefit to the grain and grass. Pastures, which showed very little progress during the past few weeks, also will be helped, said.

LATEST NEWS BULLETINS

RAF Bombers Pound German Cities

London.—Powerful fleets of Royal Air Force bombers and fighters today rained new devastating blows on the German cities of Rostock and Wismar and blasted at Nazi airdromes in occupied France.

It was assumed in authoritative circles that the new assault against off-bombed Rostock was aimed at the Heinkel airplane works, the Neptune shipyards and other industrial objectives of the vital Baltic commercial port. Targets in Wismar, seven miles north of Rostock on the tip of a Baltic inlet, included docks, a U-boat training base site and a vital aircraft factory, it was learned. The city is the terminus of an important ferry line to Denmark and has been used as a base for conveying troops and supplies to Norway.

German Losses Put at 60,000

Moscow.—Russian armies on the Leningrad front killed or wounded 60,000 German soldiers during the months of March and April, the Moscow radio reported today while Soviet forces on the central front prepared for "decisive battles" against the Nazis.

Red Army units, assisted by guerrillas, have dislodged the Germans from strategic, highly fortified positions in the Karelian and Leningrad sectors and the Russian air force has carried out heavy raids against Nazi positions in Norway and Finland, during an aerial battle still in progress, it was learned.

Truck Driver Killed

Philadelphia.—Clement J. O. Learnick, 20-year-old shipyard truck driver, was killed today and four other persons were injured, three seriously, in a collision of two automobiles at a North Philadelphia intersection. Both cars were wrecked and their occupants thrown out on the street. Taken to Nazareth Hospital in serious condition were Reynold W. Smith, 25, Andalusia, his wife Ruth, 22, and Edward Barnhill, 25, Philadelphia.

Family of Three Burned to Death

Hammonton, N. J.—A family of three—father, mother and son—were burned to death today when flames destroyed their four-room log cabin on the bank of the Atsion Lake seven miles north of Hammonton. The victims were—Richard Richardson, 34, Philadelphia stock broker, his wife Elizabeth, 26, and their son, David, seven. All apparently died in their sleep during the blaze which completely burned the flimsy structure and a car parked outside.

WILL OPEN FIRST-AID CLASSES IN ANIMAL CARE

Instructions To Be Given In Care of Wounded and Frightened Animals

TO OPEN HERE MAY 17TH

Chief co-ordinator of Bristol civilian defense, Linford J. Jones, announces the organization of a class in "Animal First-Aid" in connection with civilian defense. Such a class is deemed a necessity as a frightened or wounded animal can very easily be a very dangerous animal unless properly handled, and very few people know how to properly handle such animals with the least danger to themselves.

The handling of frightened or wounded animals will be taught, as will also the proper handling of animals preceding an actual air raid and following one.

The proper methods of administering medicine, both liquid and tablet, will be taught, as will the temporary splinting of broken bones; the pressure points to control serious bleeding and the application of bandages where needed.

Experience abroad has shown that pets are an important factor in maintaining the morale of the people in times of great national disaster. During the first days of the war thousands of pets were destroyed in England, by their owners. There is no need for such action in this country, and it should be very thoroughly discouraged, it is claimed.

"Those owning animals should of course, observe every possible precaution to protect them from injury and to safeguard the public."

It was also proven in England that the dog, due to his very keen sense of hearing was of great value in detecting an approaching air raid.

The cat also has a duty to perform.

Both cars, the police believe, crashed head-on.

The two ambulances of the Bucks County Rescue Squad were called into service and took the injured to both the Nazareth and Harriman Hospitals.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

(I. N. S. Staff Writer)

There is going to be a little less Navy all around when the battle of the Southwest Pacific ends.

And we will have the edge.

Because the war is going to go into the air and stay there.

And we are building planes faster than anybody else could or will build them.

And we are going to keep on building them that way.

And the day will come when we will have superiority in the air.

Not just local superiority but superiority in every theater of war.

And then it won't make any difference who's got the battleships and the heavy cruisers.

Because we will have the planes.

Just give us aircraft carriers and light cruisers and destroyers to shield them and that's all the Navy we will want.

Thought for the day: Any questions?

MOTHER'S DAY

One reason that the celebration of Mother's Day has taken on the character of a national event is that it is, in fact, everybody's day. When a country pays tribute to its mothers, it pays tribute to all that it is and all that it hopes to be or can be.

This year the occasion will be celebrated with special attention in the Army camps, Naval bases and on Navy ships. The armed force will pay its tribute to the motherhood which brought it to man's estate, equipped it to meet the requirements of the highest patriotic duty and inspired it to put the safety of country above all things save only trust in God.

It is properly a day of remembrance and thanksgiving, observed in the churches with prayers and with sermons in tribute to motherhood, and in all homes as the time to give thought to the debt that every living owes to the woman who bore him and nourished him.

It is a day designed for a reexamination of the mystery and the beauty of the maternal. It instinctively summons a spirit of devotion. The Chinese, whose civilization is probably the oldest of all, hold the view of motherhood as the universal creation. That strain of humans known as Anglo-Saxons who are newer in the world have individualized the Chinese conception of motherhood but revere it.

Indeed, the mothers of men are on a high plane in all classifications of the human family that are advancing spiritually and culturally. The esteem of motherhood is a mark of character just as the lack of it designates brutishness. While the world at the moment is not being conducted with the best interests of mothers at heart, their force and their faith will again be felt in the councils of men, more fully than ever.

A cycle of their dominance will follow this one as surely as the next dawn.

FROZEN STOCKS

Approval by the House Banking Committee of a bill to authorize Federal loans to holders of rationed stocks is a step toward correcting an obvious injustice.

When the Office of Price Administration stops the sale of a commodity and arranges for rationing stocks on hand it acts in behalf of the war effort—that is, for the benefit of all the people. And all the people, acting through government, should share the cost.

Automobile dealers and distributors were hard hit by the automobile rationing order. They were forbidden to sell cars which they had contracted to buy. They were forced to carry these cars in storage, thus tying up their capital and forcing most of them to appeal for credit help.

It is not contended that the Price Administration had any choice in the matter. It had to act in the spirit of the emergency, and it faced its duty and operated with celerity and courage. But it left a public obligation, and it is this obligation which the proposed bill would discharge.

The plan is to lend RFC money to holders of frozen, rationed stocks until the stocks are sold or taken over by the government. This should enable the holders to dispose of their stocks without loss.

The people sense the fairness of the proposal and will applaud a bill to put it into effect.

was able to name every ship in the new outfit by sight but I am not permitted to tell which ones they are. There is a rumor abroad that these new visitors are from the eastern seaboard of the United States but nobody knows.

Some of the boys amused themselves today writing Valentines for the benefit of our newlyweds—Captain John Shockley of Brookline, Pa.; Lt. Al Higgins of Exeter, N. H.; Lt. Raymond Hoxsie of Westley, R. I.; and Lt. Bill Musser of San Antonio, Tex. Musser was married just a few hours before sailing.

All four of these love-sick swains have their brides' photographs prominently displayed in their cabins and all four spend hours gazing dreamily at the moon every night.

I heard Capt. Hal Means—a hardened old married man—telling Capt. Shockley that he was going to get him a muzzle if he kept looking at the moon much longer.

And that reminds me that Pvt. Sidney "Spoke" Alter, former star end at Penn State, thinks a travel agent for a tourist bureau must have written the blurb for the Southern Cross, now visible in the skies every night. It seems the boys expected a myriad of stars to form the cross and not four or five as is actually the case.

All the boys are pathetically eager to have the folks back home know that they are all right. They collar me by the dozens at any hour of the day or night wanting to know if it will be possible for me to mention their names so that the home folks will know where they are. I wish it were possible to mention them all.

The heat continues almost unbearably even for an old salamander like me and everybody spends every minute possible on deck. Many of the officers have quit their cabins where they were stifling to sleep—with a life belt for a pillow—on the open decks.

All hands are sick of the endless expanse of sea and the blinding glare of the sun and as Sgt. Percy Terry of Texas says, "I'd like to set foot even on a patch of cactus."

We are now in dangerous waters but the boys just don't give a damn. I think many of them would welcome the sight of a Jap sub or plane if only to break the monotony.

I suppose Australia will be glad to see us but not half as glad as we will be to see Australia.

Will Open First-Aid Classes in Animal Care

After the first panic of the war had passed cats were brought back to the bombed sections of England as they were of great value in the extermination of rodents.

After repeated requests the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals decided that the time was at hand to teach the public how to best care for pets. The lectures on Animal First Aid will be held on Sunday afternoons from 2 to 4 o'clock in the Bristol Municipal Building. They will be under the direction of Dr. Edward Terry, of Holmesburg, and will start on Sunday, May 17th.

It is suggested that each zone have at least two representatives on hand to receive instructions; the course is free and anyone interested may attend. It will cover a period of about 10 hours. Anyone interested in this class may call 2820.

We had two other boys some weeks before and got to love them very much; and also wrote to their mothers. So you see I am going to be kept busy. Here's hoping that some day I may have the pleasure of meeting you (who knows?).

Crime at Castaway by EDITH BRISTOL

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE

Mrs. Hunt's black eyes flashed resentment at me as she came into the cottage and found me there. But a neighborly call on a sick acquaintance isn't anything you can make a fuss about.

"You got here pretty quick," she said, sullenly.

"Yes," I smiled. "I wanted to see if there was anything I could do for your patient."

There was nothing I could do for her. But she had done something for me. Now I knew that Mrs. Hunt had been in Durfee's garage the night he was killed. If she was involved in the Durfee killing, then might she not be concerned also in the other killings?

Mrs. Hunt stood glaring at me as Miss Dawson spoke again. "There is something you could do," she said. "When your houseboy drives in to town tomorrow—or the next person who goes in—have him bring out our things from the drug store, like he did a few days ago."

I cannot explain what clicked in my mind at that instant. Nor why I remembered then an incident that had been forgotten for the past week. But suddenly, with Miss Dawson's words, it all spread itself before my memory. If I had been completely discreet, I should not have mentioned it. But I spoke before I thought—perhaps while I was thinking it through.

"We did have some medicines at our house for you, didn't we? You came and got them from the ranch house, didn't you, Mrs. Hunt? And

GRAND THEATRE

There are certainly no priorities on laughter as you're sure to find out when you go to the Grand Theatre Sunday where "The Male Animal" starts its local run. It has everything that makes for one grand comedy—gags, comic situations, breezy dialogue and plenty of romance. And what's more, it has the finest cast of this season's crop of laugh hits.

In the leading roles are lovely Olivia De Havilland as the wife of a college professor, and Henry Fonda as her husband, a fellow who is soft-spoken but firm. The film combines wild comedy with plausibility in a story of a professor who simply can't get excited about the coming "big game" and his wife who has too fond a memory for a certain former football hero.

BADENHAUSEN NINE HANDED ITS THIRD STRAIGHT SHUT-OUT; DIAMOND TEAM IS VICTOR

The Badenhause team was handed its third straight shut-out last evening on St. Ann's field as the Diamond team won its first triumph of the Bristol Suburban League. Final score was: Diamond, 2; Badenhause, 0.

It was Danny Keegan, Burlington youth, who blanked the Badenhause boys and he did it in fine style, fanning ten batters and allowing but a lone hit and at that it was a fluke single by Whyte in the third.

The only opportunity the batters had to score was in the final canto when Tetterer was given a pass. The fleet-footed centerfielder stole second and then followed this by stealing third. McCue's throw got away from Roe and Tetterer made a dash for the plate but Miksis had backed up Roe and picking up the ball made a perfect heave to the plate to nail Tetterer for the final out of the tilt.

The veteran Harry Munster threw them up for the Badenhause team and allowed six hits. However, four of these were bunched in the second and third innings to give Diamond its pair of tallies.

In the second, McCue singled to center and stole second. He stood there while both Dea and Locke struck out but Beckhoven singled to right and McCue counted.

With one gone in the third, Miksis worked Munster for a walk. Jefferies advanced him with a hit and McCue sent him across with his second hit of the contest, a single to right.

Notes on Nutrition

As with every trade, there are lots of tricks to cooking. Specially these days, when cooking is no longer merely broiling steaks and baking pies to please our families, but is a ritual of retaining vitamins and minerals as well. At first glance, when we cast a co-operative eye over the dietary charts issued recently by our national advisers, we may be overwhelmed by the fine-sounding, scientific principles we must apply to our meal planning. But when we study these specifications again, we soon see that if we strip the fancy names and figures from the facts, it still makes breakfast, lunch, and dinner for our families.

The first trick in following these new nutritional guidelines is to select the kinds of foods that will provide a protective diet for our families. Foods that will nourish them adequately—build up their bodies and maintain a calm tone to their nerves. The second trick is to prepare and cook these foods properly in order to retain their highest possible nutritive value. While vitamin and mineral retention are still being pondered by food specialists in their laboratories, and, to date, have been accomplished with some considerable success by commercial food packers who have access to carefully controlled scientific equipment not practical for many home kitchens, there are still a few things that each of us can do to assure greater nutritional value in the foods we serve our families. Here are a few simple hints that will help you to retain important nutrients, so far as it is possible, in the foods you cook at home:

1. Cook vegetables quickly, in as small amounts of boiling salted water as possible, for the shortest possible time.
2. The water in which vegetables are cooked may be boiled down and served over the hot vegetables, or it can be saved and used later in soups and stews and sauces.
3. In paring fruits and vegetables, remember to cut the peeling paper thin, for the richest part

United Nations Repulse Japanese Fleet in Coral Sea; Force The Enemy To Retire

This view was maintained by Prime Minister John Curtin when he spoke before the Australian Parliament while the battle still was in progress and said that events of "great magnitude are clearly at hand."

Attacking suddenly and employing brilliant interceptive strategy, the United States fleet and air units, combined with United Nations forces, heaped their blows upon the Japanese to the enemy's apparent complete surprise.

The Japanese concentrations were broken up and the remnants forced to flee.

The cryptic phrase in Gen. MacArthur's communique stating "the enemy

PEAK SEASON? By Jack Sords

CHIPS OFF THE DIAMONDS By THOMAS JUNO

The local twilight league was started in big league fashion. The first game saw a scoreless tie and in the third game another shut-out took place. It appears as if the pitchers are in for a good year.

Incidentally, the goose-eggs were handed out by veterans of the local leagues: Howard Black, "Eddie" Sullivan, and Paul Dean, Blackie, the Hulmeville fast-ball artist, has been hurling them up there since he was 18 years of age and I would judge that he has been pitching for over 25 years.

A sudden switch saw the management of two teams change hands. Tony Angelo took over the reins of the St. Ann's team, while Ike Watson, the Fallsington constable, took over the manager's job for the Hunter team.

Joe Valenta, who is athletic director for the Hunter A. A., is determined to put the munition makers on the map. He states that before the season is over, the teams in the league will be plenty surprised.

He is proving his statement by already going after and getting Eddie Lada, of Trenton, who was looked over by the New York Yankees. Lada pitched against Edgely but could not bear down because the catcher was not used to his style of pitching. Now Hunter's has signed his regular catcher from Trenton.

Johnny Slaven, who did a little pitching here a season ago, has been made a Second Lieutenant in the Army and is stationed at Camp Roberts, Cal. "Punkie" Zeffries is now at Shelby, Miss., and Johnny Stallone at Camp Wheeler, Ga.

That Joseph Flatus who was inducted into the Army last week is the same husky chap who played third and first has been repulsed" tells only part of the story. And that part now is of the greatest importance to the future conduct of the war in the Southwest Pacific area.

Strongly supported by heavy attack and dive bomber bombardments units of the air force, the United States naval forces, under command of Vice Admiral Herbert P. Leary, seems to have more than paid back the tragic sneak attack by the Japanese against Pearl Harbor.

In addition the defeat dealt a staggering blow to Japanese plans to attack Australian and disrupt United Nations supply lines to the island continent.

United Nations headquarters rang with resounding cheers when news of the important victory was released. Authoritative sources emphasized that it would be impossible to exaggerate the importance of the dramatic and successful Coral Sea battle to the United Nations' control of the balance of power in the Southwest Pacific.

There was no indication of whether the Japanese fleet can possibly be reinforced for another attempt at a southward push. Since there has been no estimate of the total enemy forces engaged or United Nations losses it is impossible to assess the ultimate result of the battle.

The attitude at general headquarters appeared to be that the United Nations had won the first round of a major Japanese drive against Australia, frustrating the enemy's aims at least temporarily.

It was pointed out that the general practice of the United States has been to have its Navy Department in Washington officially announce any losses of

BRISTOL A. A. WILL OPEN ITS SEASON TOMORROW, PLAYING MEEHAN'S STARS IN FIRST GAME; PHILA. LEAGUE ENTRY

By Jack Gill

The 1942 edition of Johnny Mulholland's Bristol A. A. baseball team will make its debut tomorrow afternoon. The local batsmen will take on a Philadelphia League entry in Austin Meehan's Stars at Rising Sun and Comly avenues, Phila.

The Meehan team, currently preparing for later action in the strong Philly circuit, turned back the Curry All Stars by an 8 to 5 count last week. It is regarded as one of the better clubs in sandlot circles this season.

Mulholland lists Helsler and Carey as probable pitchers with Jesse Van-Zant behind the plate, Boake Carter, Jim Cooper, Barker, Palumbo, Felkner and Bert Barbetta will round out the inner cordon. For outfield duty Bill Berry, Hunter, Luck and Elshenko will be on hand.

With but a few additions and one noticeable absentee, this is virtually the same club that represented the A's last season. Lefty Sweeney, the Jersey sidewinder now in the Army, left a pitching gap in Mulholland's plans that have yet to be fulfilled. However, he is making an effort to sweep Helsler and Carey, two veterans, into active shape. If successful, he may be able to win more than a few ball games this campaign.

More Rain Needed To Complete Plowing

Mr. Greenwalt. Truck crops also will be benefited by the rain.

Most farmers had started to plow for corn in various sections of the county, and the oats has been sown.

The farmers will be prepared to proceed with the sowing of soy beans by about May 15 if there is a sufficient supply of moisture. The soy bean acreage in the county will be increased to a large extent this year. The beans will be used for the extraction of oil to take the place of vegetable oil, much of which had been imported for the making of soap and other articles.

Peach blossoming in the county has been quite spotty. Some orchards had an almost 100 per cent blossom, while in other orchards there were practically no blossoms. Buds on the trees apparently were badly damaged in some sections during January, when the temperature dropped to 15 and 16 degrees below zero.

Prospects for the apple crop this season appear to be good. Apple trees were in full bloom over the week-end. Truckers in the lower part of the county have started to harvest their asparagus crop, and the cutting of rhubarb and spinach has been in progress for some time.
